

I grew up in South Louisiana and I have been around guns all my life. The National Rifle Association has given me an "A" rating for my voting record. I remember how proud I was of my son, Seph, when I taught him how to shoot, and we still enjoy duck hunting together as father and son. I am looking forward to sharing these same experiences with my new grandson. I feel blessed to live in a state known as "the Sportsman's Paradise." As an avid sportsman and Second Amendment advocate, I pledge to protect our Constitutional liberties and the natural resources that make South Louisiana a great place to live.
